

My Mosler Biography:

Linda Joy Combs – I joined Mosler in 1968 as a Secretary at the Belle Avenue location. I was hired by Joe Wolpin, and my very first boss was Bill Ohlinger (worked with Jim Vancil and Don Robinson) in the MIS-410 area. Later, I started working for Paul Miner in Technical Services and also helped in the Photoguard Department. Around 1972, I started working in the Teller-Matic department, working for Gary Peterson. When Teller-Matic moved to Milford, I went with Mac Constable, Charlie Geisler and Dave Furnish. Then I came back to Hamilton and worked at Grand Blvd. as Secretary to Bill Howe, VP Business & Product Planning. I started working for Steve Marzano when he became VP Business Planning, and Art Lewis VP of International, and then Charles Comfort when he replaced Art Lewis as VP International. Several years later, I moved to the new Display Center on Berk Blvd. with Steve Marzano. I also worked for Gary Peterson who was VP of Commercial Marketing. Then International moved to Berk Blvd and I worked for Jim HusVar, VP International. Later while still working with Jim HusVar, I worked for John Norris who was VP of Marketing.

In 1997, I left Mosler to work as Executive Assistant to Charles Comfort (formerly of Mosler) who was COO of General Revenue Corporation. I left GRC in 2004.

My husband Desmond and I are retired and live in Hamilton. We have two married sons, one granddaughter, and three grandsons.
